

FRIENDSHIP. P. M.

G Major. Bidwell, 1789.

Air by G. F. Handel, 1736 (arr. 1798; treb. & alto by R. W. Hall).

1. Friendship to ev'ry will - ing mind, O - pens a heav'nly treas - ure;
 There may the sons of sorrow find, Sources of re - al pleas - ure. See what employments men pursue, Then you will own my words are true,
D.C. Friendship alone unfolds to view Sources of re - al pleas - ure.

2. Poor are the joys which fools esteem, Fading and tran - si - to - ry,
 Mirth is as fleeting as a dream, Or a de - lus - ive sto - ry. Lux - u - ry leaves a sting be - hind, Wounding the bod - y and the mind,
D.C. Only in friendship can we find Pleasure and sol - id glo - ry.
