William Walker, 1845.

1. Come all ye ten-der-heart - ed Christ-ians, Come join with me to weep and mourn,
To see the man of con - stant sor - row, A-bas'd, for - sak-en, and for - lorn; The fox - es they have holes pre-par-ed,

2. Be-hold him in cold moun-tains pray - ing, He spent whole nights in pray'r and praise;
He was with grief and tears ac-quaint-ed, He went a mourn-er all his days; Be-hold him in the gar - den ly-ing,

And birds of air have pleas - ant nests; But Christ, the Son of man, worse far - ed, He had no - where to go to rest.

His soul in floods of sor - row drown'd, And the large blood-y sweat a run-ning In trick-ling drops down to the ground.
